COACHING MATTERS

The Leading Edge - Longevity in Leadership

Tuesday 6 June | 6pm CET / 9am PDT | ZOOM

In our high performance world, it is clear that coaches need also to have leadership skills. As in other walks of life, exercising leadership is specific to context and often, excellence in one context does not necessarily transfer to others. To overcome this hurdle, this forum is dedicated to learning from those practicing leadership in our space in their world, what they believe, through experience, to be the most valuable component of being an effective leader coach.
